BASKETBALL STINGERS WIN IN TORONTO

The Concordia University men's basketball Stingers have to be considered as serious contenders for National honours this year following their stunning victory in the University of Toronto National Tournament held on the weekend. Doug Daigneault's crew has now won three consecutive tournaments including the Adidas Border Clash at Concordia; the McGill Invitational, and the National in Toronto.

The Stingers won all three of their games while taking top honours in Toronto, but it wasn't easy. Concordia opened with a tough 79-78 win over McMaster and followed up with a 74-73 squeaker of a win against Calgary in the semi-final.

In the Championship game the Stingers beat St. Francis Xavier and former Loyola Assistant Coach, Steve Konchalski 84-80 to take the title, as Rob Latter, the tournament's MVP pumped in 28 points.

In the opening game Craig Norman had 24 points for Concordia and Latter added 23. In the win over Calgary, Chris Francis scored 21 points and Latter had 19. In addition to Latter's 28 points in the final, Craig Norman had 19. Norman and Latter were selected to the All-Tournament Team.
